

SPLASH OF COLOUR

CITY OF FREDERICTON

NEW BRUNSWICK

Artist Statement: “A Splash Of Colour”

These exquisite sculptures create a breathtaking bouquet of Monarch butterflies, beautifully encapsulating the essence of nature in an abstract display of vibrant Splash Of Colour. They portray the majestic Monarchs as they gracefully descend upon their remarkable northern habitat in Fredericton, New Brunswick. In this captivating display, thirty 2ft x 2ft butterflies are elegantly positioned in a typical roost, inviting viewers to admire the delicate beauty and intricate details of these magnificent creatures. Unfortunately, these butterflies are now listed under the Canadian Species at Risk Act (SARA) due to pressing threats, including habitat loss and climate change. This exhibition serves as a poignant reminder of the urgent need to protect these remarkable species and their environments.

By: Gary A. Crosby M.M.M C.D©

New Brunswick

Monarch butterfly sculptures on Fredericton bridge send environmental message

Public art installation by veteran and artist Gary Crosby aims to help endangered species

Hope Edmond · CBC News ·

Posted: Jul 13, 2025 6:00 AM ADT | Last

Updated: 7 hours ago

